

Spanish

Course Leader

Maria Valverde

Examination Board

AQA

Assessment

Listening, Reading & Writing (50%)
 Writing (20%)
 Speaking (30%)

What you will study?

A Level Spanish builds on and extends GCSE knowledge and skills, allowing students to talk about a range of complex topics in the target language.

Some of these topics include Spanish regional identity, monarchy, dictatorship and cultural heritage.

A Level Spanish includes studies of literary texts and films, which will be analysed in depth in the written exam. For the speaking exam, there is the opportunity to research and present on a topic of your choice.

“If you talk to a man in a language he understands, that goes to his head. If you talk to him in his own language, that goes to his heart.” Nelson Mandela

Future Pathways

An A Level in a foreign language can broaden your horizons and lead to a range of opportunities later in life. Some students go on to study a language at Degree level, whilst others allow it to take them abroad for a year in industry within their degree in other subjects. A Levels in Languages can also lead you into roles in translation, security, teaching (including teaching English as a foreign language) and sport.

Extra-Curricular Opportunities

Links with schools in Spain
 Language workshops